The tenth grade is one of the most difficult years of high school. Sophomores are not quite upperclassmen, but they are not incoming freshmen either. They are right in the middle, trying to identify and establish their identity. With patience and time the sophomores will eventually find themselves both as individuals and as a class.

Filled With Spirit

A good way to describe this year's freshman class is to say that we have lots of spirit. We came in this year and like most freshman, didn't really know what we were supposed to be doing for Spirit Works. Once we found out, we got organized and did our best. Our work paid off. We also have school spirit. You can always find a freshman helping out or cheering for our school at a sports event. We have lots of freshmen involved in school sports. But, most important of all, the freshman this year are full of self-spirit. Every one of us is trying to get good grades, participate in a few activities, and have a good social life. This is a really hard-working class. I think that if we maintain all of our spirit, we can look forward to a great four years.

CHORUS MUSICAL

Computerized Christmas

Under the direction of Mrs. Loder, the chorus musical group put on a brilliant production of Computerized Christmas. Terri Beattie led the cast starring as Santa Clause. The musical combined comedy along with the subtle message that no matter how complex our technology becomes, Christmas should remain a time for personal happiness and joy.

SOFTBALL

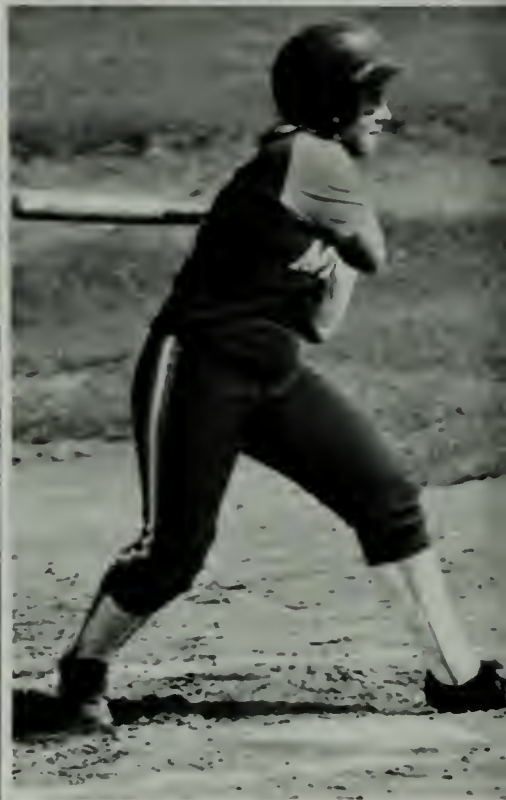

Lady Eagles Soar

It was a season of ups and downs, of trials and triumphs, but through it all, it was a season of teamwork. Despite having an all-freshman infield and a slow start, the team held in there for a fantastic end of the season highlighted by its one-run victory over Saint Joseph in the final regular season game. This advanced us to the Western Massachusetts tournament for the first time in girls' softball history at Mt. Everett.

BASEBALL

Sizing Up

Success and disappointment seemed to be the feelings surrounding the 1987 boys' varsity baseball team. Many games against high ranked teams were lost by only one run. P.H.S., northern division champions, by a stroke of luck, pulled off a last inning win over the upset-bound Eagles. This game, along with others, seemed to size up the Eagles' season. Ian Law, most valuable player, Travis Ovitt, most improved, and Tim Coon, most hustle, were the award recipients for the 1987 year.

GIRLS' SOCCER

Continuing The Tradition

This year's girls' Varsity Soccer team not only ended with the best win loss record in Mt. Everett's history, but they also qualified for the Western Massachusetts Tournament, practically making tournament play a tradition for girls' sports teams. Coach Sam Mills paced the team to second place honors in the Southern Division. The team was held together by a strong fullback line, a determined mid-field, an aggressive front line, and an awesome goalie — Laurie Kinna. With only three seniors graduating and strong junior varsity members to fill their positions, next year's team holds much promise.

BOYS' SOCCER

Fighting Against The Odds

This past season was filled with ups and downs for the boys' varsity soccer team. Many down-to-the-wire battles made each game exciting to watch. Not willing to be stifled by their losses, the team fought harder after each defeat. As the end of the season drew near, and the players realized they would not make tournament play, their hopes turned to next year's team. With a strong senior line-up and a more experienced coach, next season should be a successful one.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Together

The Lady Eagles are continuing their winning record. As they race for a first place finish in the Southern division, they are guaranteed a tournament berth and possible Western Massachusetts title. They are bonded together by a sense of love and respect that thrives on and off the court. They have demonstrated the true meaning of the words "team work" and stand strong to their motto, "TOGETHER!"

BOYS' BASKETBALL

A New Beginning

The 1987-88 boys' basketball program at Mt. Everett was in need of a complete re-haul. Coach Randy Koldys of the varsity squad and Rick Ramsay of the junior varsity have got the program going in the right direction.

The seniors on the team have been very influential to the overall development of the underclassmen. They have found ways to overcome their inexperience and show much potential for future years.

CHEERLEADING

Raising The Spirit

The Mt. Everett cheerleaders keep the spirit alive for the fans and the school. They have a larger squad, new ideas, and a great coach. They have had assistance from the Eagle mascot, as well as the contributing and "rowdie" fans that help in raising cheers. The cheerleaders, supporting both home and away games, have helped to instill a new sense of pride among the winter athletic teams.

WRESTLING

Dedication

Under the guidance of eight-year coach Al Proietti and assistant coaches Paul Menin and Mark Devoti, the wrestling team has met many individual and team goals. Through hard work, sweat, and dedication to their sport, the team has been victorious in both Western Mass. and the statewide events. Many individuals hope to win medals in both the Western Mass. and State championships.

PERSONNEL

Need something done? copied? typed? called? banded? cooked? cleaned? The personnel are the people who are always giving a little extra to their jobs and to us while asking nothing in return. The behind the scenes people are here helping in every way. They let us use the phone, hand out aspirin, put up with us at the snack bar, and give construction paper whenever we ask. Without the personnel, Mt. Everett could not function.

FACULTY

The faculty at Mt. Everett are people who go above and beyond their usual jobs. They help with everything from the last minute washing of uniforms on game days to advising different groups to lengthy after school sessions. The faculty are a group of people that help keep things running smoothly. The faculty are our friends, counselors, mentors. They guide us through our school and personal life. They have our respect and admiration. These people are dedicated to us, the students.

CONGRATULATIONS CLASS of 1988

Mr. Alvares Mrs. Piper

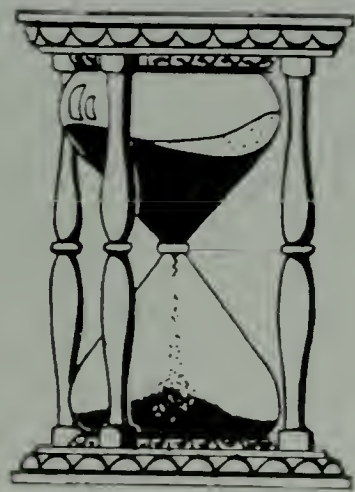

Two faculty members of Mt. Everett will join the Senior class in June in saying farewell. Mr. Alvares and Mrs. Piper are two people who have proved their love and dedication for students through years of hard work.

Mr. Alvares — charming, outspoken, outgoing, energetic. He is a kind-hearted, effective man who has taught hundreds of children much more than reading, writing, and arithmetic. He is an inspiring teacher whose presence will be missed next year in the halls of Mt. Everett.

Patience, dedication, intelligence — these are all attributes that Mrs. Piper has displayed while working as the head librarian of Mt. Everett. She has magically found magazine articles and books for frantic juniors and seniors at research paper time. She has been instrumental in keeping the library up to date.

- Janet Thieriot
